

Risk Management Leadership Summer Workshop
July 11-12, 2019

Program Description: Global education and administrative leaders who oversee risk management for off-campus and international travel programs will learn fundamental management skills along with essential model practices for the risk landscape of today. Working with head of risk management for Where There be Dragons and the Executive Director of GEBG, participants will develop their own leadership capacity so they can best facilitate and train others, and learn how to implement a crisis response table-top back on campus with their colleagues. As a community of education leaders, participants and the GEBG will share a wealth of resources ranging from liability forms, crisis plans, and sample policies on emerging topics. As risks and priorities for schools evolve ensure that you are up to speed as a risk management leader, and that your leadership is an essential value add to your school.

AUDIENCE: Global Directors and any Administrative Leaders who oversee Risk Management for Off-campus Programs

DATES: July 11-12, 2019

SCHEDULE: 9-3pm and 6-8pm Thursday July 11, and 9-2:30pm on Friday July 12

LOCATION: Hosted at Packer Collegiate Institute, Brooklyn, NY

COST: $950 member schools, $1100 non member school attendees. Housing not included but one dinner, two breakfasts (for those staying at recommended hotel) and two lunches included

HOUSING: Recommended Hotel, Nu Hotel Brooklyn, 85 Smith Street, Brooklyn, New York 11201

Please make a reservation at www.nuhotelbrooklyn.com. This hotel is less than 10 minutes walking distance from Packer Collegiate School. There are also many other options nearby.

FACILITATORS:

Tim Hare, Director of Risk Management, Where There be Dragons

Clare Sisisky, Executive Director, Global Education Benchmark Group

To register: please visit www.gebg.org